Harris County Animal Shelter to Have a New Facility,
New Name in 2020

HCAS Launches Paver Fundraiser to Support Shelter Pets

HOUSTON - Harris County Animal Shelter (HCAS) will have a new facility and a new name in 2020. To commemorate this occasion, the shelter is launching a paver fundraiser to support its shelter pets and additional projects for the new facility.

Made possible in part by a $24 million bond proposal passed by voters in 2015, the new Harris County Pets Resource Center will open later this year and replace the current building on the same grounds at 612 Canino Road in Houston. The new center will comfortably house 525 pets - more than double the amount of the current facility -- and provide extended services and resources to the community.

Other improved amenities of the Harris County Pets Resource Center include:

- A new pet wellness clinic that will allow expansion of veterinary services to pets;
- Indoor/outdoor kennel runs for dogs;
- Cat condos with sleeping and eating areas, separate from the litter box area;
- Isolation and quarantine areas for pets with, or exposed to, contagious diseases;
- Separate entrances and lobbies for adoptions, admissions, and the wellness clinic;
- Get-acquainted areas to allow potential adopters to interact with dogs and cats;
- A public education/meeting building;
- A four-section dog park and pavilion; and
- No recirculation of air in the animal housing rooms, critical for controlling disease and maintaining the health of the animals.

“We are looking forward to moving into the new facility, which will enable us to expand our capacity to serve the community,” said Michael White, DVM, MS, director of Veterinary Public Health, a division of Harris County Public Health. “The new resource center will be an attractive, public-friendly facility where residents will have more opportunities to interact with our pets. The new resource center will allow us to care for more animals. In addition, the separate entrances and lobbies for adoptions, admissions, and the wellness clinic will allow an increased efficiency in assisting our visitors.”

In preparation for the center’s opening, the new name, Harris County Pets, will be used to refer to the services, programs and resources currently being offered and eventually the new facility and additional services.

Brick Paver Fundraiser to Support Animals at New Resource Center

Residents will have the opportunity to honor or memorialize a special pet or person by donating a personalized paver for the new center. The fundraiser will support future pets by funding enrichment projects for the new facility.
